HAMLIN, JONES COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1936.

NUMBER 49.

Third Game W. V. League To Be Played Here Sunday

Haskell meets Hamlin here Sunday afternoon at 3:30 P. M. in the third game of the Wichita Valley League Championship series. This game has been necessarily postponed twice on account of wet grounds.

The first two games of the series were played at Haskell, with all the remaining games scheduled at Hamlin. However, should Haskell take the Sunday game the series will be ended.

Haskell won the first game 2 to 1 in a pitchers battle between Tommie Hall and Arch Pittman, neither of the winners runs however, being earned. Haskell took the second by score of 1 to 0, Hall tossing for Haskell and Earl Portwood for Hamlin, in eleven innings. Each pitcher allowing only four hits.

The locals are determined to take Sunday's encounter as well as the next two. They will have their full strength and the line-up will look as follows Sunday:

Harris, lf Ensey, 2b
C. Portwood rf Abbott c
Weeks 3b Rowland 1b
Allen ss Grimes cf

Hughes p
As reserve strength Hamlin will have Ace Stewart, outfielder, Allen Ford, utility, Arch Pittman and Earl Portwood, pitchers.

BRUCE PROCTOR'S HOME

DAMAGED BY FIRE

Through the wet chilly weather but one fire alarm has sounded that was on Tuesday afternoon, late, when a fire was started by an oil stove in the home of Bruce Proctor, in southeast Hamlin.

This is a four room house and the furniture was damaged by water and some loss by fire, as was reported by one of the firemen. The house was greatly damaged, but can be repaired.

They carried some insurance, perhaps enough to cover the losses.

MOVING TO WICHITA FALLS

Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williams left for Wichita Falls to make that place their home. Mr. Williams has been "wire chief" for the S. W. Bell Telephone Co. for the past nine years in Hamlin. Some months ago they sold their home here and purchased a nice place in Wichita Falls, where Mr. Williams is taking the position of "Store Room Keeper" for the telephone company. Mr. Williams place here is to be filled by Mr. Gidden, of Hearne, Texas, who is already here to make his home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Morgan returned Friday from Dallas where they spent several days seeing the Centennial. They were also present at the big style show which was staged last week at the Centennial.

DEATHS CLAIMS W. H. DANIEL WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

W. H. Daniel was claimed by death at 3:20 P. M. Wednesday, September 30, at his home on Alamo Avenue and 6th street.

Mr. Daniel had been in failing health for more than a year, and his passing was not unexpected.

At the time of his death he was 73 years, 7 months and 29 days of age. He was born at Beaumont, Texas, on February 1, 1863. In early life his parents moved to Robertson County where he grew to manhood and married Miss Annie Nixon, at Franklin, Texas.

Mr. Daniel and his family moved to Jones County in 1906 and became successful farmers in the Hittson community of Fisher County. Several years ago he retired from the farm and again moved to Hamlin and engaged in the gin business.

Surviving are his wife and nine children. The children are: G. A. Daniel, Arthur and Aubrey Daniel, and Mrs. L. E. Hines, all of Hamlin; W. A. Daniel of Cross Plains; A. C. Daniel of Lubbock; Mrs. Sherman Moulton of Lamesa; Mrs. Edgar Sylvester of Brawley, California, and Mrs. Johnny Wallace, of Riverside, California.

There are 25 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The deceased was a member of the Hamlin Baptist Church, a man who led a quiet life, and those close to him realize his sterling character.

Funeral services were conducted at the church Thursday afternoon, in charge of the pastor, assisted by other pastors of the city.

Maples Funeral Home directed interment in East Cemetery, Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Greenway are happy over the arrival of a fine son, born Thursday, Oct. 1. He is an eight pounder and his name is Larry Don Greenway. This is the second grandson of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Wilson and this young man means that Mr. and Mrs. Carl Greenway are grandparents, now.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albritton went to Dallas and Fort Worth Sunday, and enjoyed both of the Centennial shows till Tuesday morning. They were accompanied by their sister, Mrs. O. D. Roland and baby, who were met in Dallas by Mr. Roland.

C. C. Elliott of Cisco, has accepted a position as clerk for the Waggoner Drug Co. Mr. Elliott has had many years experience in the drug business—and by the way—he is a "single" man.

PIED PIPERS OPEN IN HAMLIN

Side Line Boosters—Come On! The Home Kick-Off is 3:30 today.

This Friday, October 2, the Pied Pipers play their first home game with the strong Munday High team. The game will be the first conference game the Pipers have played this year. Having met stronger opposition in the first two starts, the Pipers are anxious to see what they can do with teams of their own district.

With the losing of Joe Knight from injuries received in last week's game with Roscoe, Coach Galloway has had to make some shifts in order to develop a passer and punter to fill the shoes so capably filled by Joe.

The game is scheduled to start promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Admission will be 15c for school children and 35c for adults.

A large crowd is expected to turn out for this game as the fans are anxious to see the 1936 Pipers in action.

GRAND JURY FINDS DRUNKEN DRIVING

To The Hon. W. R. CHAPMAN,
Judge of Said Court:

We, your Grand Jury for the September, 1936, term of the District Court of Jones County, Texas, beg to submit this, our final report:

We have investigated a total of 40 felony charges. We have examined 151 witnesses in connection with the investigation of the above felony cases. We have investigated a few misdemeanor cases and have returned one misdemeanor indictment. We have returned 24 felony bills of indictment.

Your Grand Jury feels that there is entirely too much drunken driving on the highways of Jones County and on the streets of the towns of this County. One instance of where a man arrested while driving a car while drunk in a town in Jones County was allowed to pay a fine for drunkenness was called to the attention of the Grand Jury. Too, in cases where the officers make an arrest and file charges against a man for driving a car while drunk, the citizens who happen to be witnesses to such drunken driving are not, in all instances, willing to testify against persons so charged. Your Grand Jury desires to point out to the citizenship of Jones County that it is just as much the duty of a citizen to help enforce the law as it is the duty of a peace officer or a prosecuting attorney.

Not only every case of drunken driving should be reported to the officers and not only should every person guilty of such offense be charged with driving a car while intoxicated, but the citizenship of Jones County should not shrink from testifying to the facts in such cases where they are acquainted with the facts. Neither should the officials permit the offense to be reduced to a charge of drunkenness, but every person guilty of driving a car while drunk should be charged with that offense.

We find that the people of Jones County in most other respects are law abiding, and that violations of the law, in spite of the fact that we have now a transient population in our midst to gather the cotton crop, are few as compared to conditions existing a few years back.

We have examined the jail and premises and find same to be in excellent condition.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. EZELL, Foreman.

Miss Kthryne Adkins, Iris Pribble and Foy Pribble went to Lubbock Saturday to see the football game played by Texas Tech and T. C. U. They were accompanied by Miss Allie Eason, a teacher in Sylvester public schools, and Claude Brown of Abilene. Messrs. Pribble and Brown and Miss Eason are former Tech graduates.

Mrs. G. L. Barnett returned Tuesday from Snyder where she had visited her sister, Mrs. J. C. Moore, who has been seriously ill.

SIMMONS VS. A & M COLLEGE

BENSON

Sports binoculars of the Southwest and particularly north Texas will be trained on Wichita Falls next Saturday as the highly publicized Texas Aggies meet Coach Frank Kimbrough's veteran Cowboys.

The Oct. 3 battle on Coyote Field returns Hardin-Simmons to the scene of their gallant fight against the champion S. M. U. Mustangs in 1935, and together with the Cowboys' 20-0 victory over Daniel Baker Sept. 26 make ranch hands a serious threat to the Aggies position on the sport page.

The "Dream Game of North Texas," as the battle has been called, will return Cowboy Burns McKinney, H. S. stellar star, to his native haunts and permit Dick Todd, most talked about sophomore in the Southwest Conference, to gallop once more over familiar turf.

McKinney, Coyote star of several years gone, scattered across the Daniel Baker goal for two of Hardin-Simmons three scores Sept. 18 and is looked to for repeat action before home stands.

Tod, Crowell wonder boy, massed 700 gridiron points in his high school career and was admittedly the best freshman in 1935 that the Aggie mentor has ever worked with.

Although the stage has been set for McKinney and Todd, the remainder of the cast includes several score veterans. Hardin-Simmons starters will likely include co-captains Tyler at half and Murphy at tackle.

Cherry and Mahuron at fullback and quarter, and a forward wall that scouts say would make a concrete slab look like putty.—S. U. News.

Miss Carolyn Frances Greenway left Saturday for Canyon, Texas, where she will enroll in the West Texas Teachers College. Miss Greenway is a graduate of the Hamlin High School.

SINGING

On account of the Fisher County Singing Convention convening on the second Sunday this month, we are for this month only, singing on the first Sunday.

Remember, we are singing this Sunday afternoon at the Nazarene church, beginning at 2:30 P. M. Interest is getting better. Everyone cordially invited.

Pribble Brothers On Flowers and Fashion

Fashions for Fall and Winter have a distinctive rhythm—an upward, lifting swing. There's a dashing crescendo to hats, shoulder necklines and skirt lengths. Real flowers—and it is correct to wear them with every ensemble — also follow the fashions to the heights. They will be worn high on the shoulders, centered high at the neckline, worn well up on the head.

This up-to-the-minute style information was brought back to Hamlin today by Iris and Foy Pribble of the Hamlin Flower Shop, prominent local florists, who attended the 27th annual convention of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association at Dallas, Texas, last week and participated in a huge flower and fashion show at which the new styles in clothing and flowers were introduced.

Colors of flowers worn during the Fall and Winter will be daring, because fashion has dipped her fingers in rich hues—royal blues, wine reds, glowing purples—anticipating the coronation ceremonies of Edward VIII, the boys said. 'To be particularly alluring, flowers for the hair should be worn a la Mayfair. That is, they should be worn with the patrician dignity of the traditional plumes worn by ladies presented at the Court of St. James, but with only one difference—the 1936 version of this time-honored court fashion is to wear flowers well up near the forehead, adding a regal note to the appearance. Orchids, particularly the queenly white ones, worn in this way will cause every head to turn.

'New, too, in flower fashions is the elongated corsage. Flowers, usually smaller blooms, are strung together in long pendants. These are fastened at the throat, allowed to cascade downward or spread, sunburst fashion, across the bosom of the gown.

'To heighten and broaden the shoulder line and provide a military swing to the ensemble, flowers are fashioned into saucy epaulets. Another fashion that will cause a furor among flower wearers is the jabot of flowers—a cascading arrangement of blooms worn centered at the throat. This style is particularly suitable for the tailored costume.

'Smart weddings this coming season will feature a bridal gown of silver lame with court train, as well as bridesmaids' gowns of the same material—all trimmed with arrangements of orchids,' Iris and Foy reported.

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT BY AUTO

A very narrow escape from death happened to a man, by the name of Oliver Hinkle, a nephew of conductor H. A. Hinkle of the Santa Fe, last week on South Central Avenue.

From what the Herald can obtain, it seems that Dr. Turner Bynum was traveling south on that part of the street and some other car was approaching him and crowded the doctor's car to the right. There was a commotion of brakes, and it happened that the man was walking along the street carrying a suit case, at that point, and the noise must have frightened him, causing him to step in the wrong direction.

Dr. Bynum rendered quick aid and then rushed the man to the hospital in Abilene. There it was found he was badly hurt, but not fatally. Especial aid was given by Dr. Bynum and associate doctors and the latest reports are that he is recovering satisfactorily.

It seems to have been one of those happenings that will come. It was a near call to death and everyone connected with the accident is fortunate that it was not more serious. The driver of the car that crowded Dr. Bynum has not been learned yet.

ported. "The bride, of course, carries a bouquet of orchids, with which lillies-of-the-valley can be used."

The new fashions in flowers and gowns were displayed before 50,000 spectators in a unique setting at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas, according to the boys. The models paraded across a 700-foot runway, bridging the length of the huge reflecting basin of water in the Esplanade of State at the Exposition.

"Rambling 'Round"

-SEEING WHAT'S TO SEE
-HEARING WHAT'S TO HEAR

WHY SAY "STOP"...

Often one listens to some person reading a telegram to the public and again the reader says "stop." All hearers know the word "stop" is there just as one knows there is a "period" at the end of the written sentence. The word "stop" need not be spoken any more than one should say "period" just because he sees that little dot. A telegraph operator could as well "key" the word "period" in the message as well as the word "stop." If he did then how silly it would sound to hear over and again the word "period" when the end of the sentence is reached (period) (stop)

DOWN AT AUSTIN the Texas Legislature is again "resolving and resolving" — just sniffing along, hunting for something—this time investigating the way old age relief has been started. There is still another effort to investigate teachings of certain propaganda in state schools and colleges—each "hunt" calls for an expensive committee to "sniff" during the interim and at the end not much is accomplished. Again we hear a scare cry of the old age aid load 30 years hence—to that we all expect great numbers, great deeds, great sums, and a greater state when another third of a century passes over Imperial Old Texas—nothing can prevent our future greatness unless its continued waste of legislative time "sniffing" to find something where there is nothing except what the legislature laid down.

DOCTOR'S R GUARANTEED TO RELIEVE MISERY AND SUFFERING OR NO PAY!

QUICK RELIEF FROM TERRIBLE PAINS CAUSED BY SLUGGISH STOMACH, POISONOUS BOWEL ACCUMULATIONS, CONSTRICTED LIVER AND SLUGGISH KIDNEYS IS GUARANTEED—OR PAY NOTHING, DECLARES MEDICAL MAN

EVERY sick man and woman in this city is offered an unusual opportunity to get real relief from their pain and suffering, by Mr. H. L. Williams, head of the great medical laboratories which bear his name. In collaboration with a prominent physician, now head of a nationally famous clinic, Mr. Williams has perfected a prescription which acts at once on sluggish stomachs.

FOR SOUR, BURNING STOMACH

Awful gas bloating spells are relieved at once. Burning pains from sour, fermenting food disappear as the active ingredients in Williams S.L.K. Formula go right to work in your stomach. Your kidneys get a wonderful diuretic action which flushes out impurities. Your liver is revived and urged into action to get rid of that congestion which is affecting your digestion.

Accumulated impurities in your bowels, from decaying food, which are pouring poisons into your blood stream, are swept out by the action of Williams S.L.K. Formula and thus you get relief from Rheumatic and Neuritic Pains caused by Uric Acid poisoning from a sluggish system.

LOCAL DRUGGIST ENDORSES
If you have any of these symptoms you can try Williams S.L.K. Formula—and unless you get satisfactory results you get your money back

IF YOU CHANGE

YOUR HERALD ADDRESS

Readers of the Herald, outside of Hamlin and the four rural routes, had better remember this: If you change your address in any form, drop us a 1c post card to that effect. Recently a reader changed her address several times without notifying the Herald—leaving that duty to the post office. When the post office sends a card we get the usual notice that a piece of mail is held for 2c postage. This happens so often we must stop it. We go to the window, dig up the cost to find that the subscriber has moved to another street number or town and it costs us 2c each time to find it out. Send your own card at half what it costs us when Uncle Sam gives the information.

Literary and Music Clubs
Begin New Studies

October is a time looked forward to with pleasure and anticipation by Hamlin Club women as this month marks the assembly meetings for a number of clubs that have been vacationing during the summer.

WOMAN'S LITERARY CLUB

The Woman's Literary Club, one of the first clubs organized in Hamlin, will open its twenty-eighth session, Friday afternoon at one o'clock in the home of Mrs. Tate May on Jackson Avenue, with the annual luncheon which will be in honor of the incoming president, Mrs. W. R. Calhoun and other club officers.

The study course for the year is "Arm Chair Travels and Current Books" which promises to be most interesting.

The club opens this year with a full membership list and a number of names on the waiting list which suggests that Hamlin needs another study club.

SCHUBERT MUSIC CLUB

The Schubert Music Club will meet Saturday afternoon, October 3, at one o'clock in the home of Mrs. Weldon Griggs for a luncheon which will open their ninth session.

The course of study, "Our American Music" by John Tasker Howard, is announced by a very attractive year book which was compiled by Mrs. Joe McCrary, Mrs. Henry Albritton and Mrs. Clinton Barrow.

JACK WILSON AND MISS

LUSARA RANDEL MARRIED

Announcements were received in Hamlin, Sunday morning of the marriage of Miss Lusara Randel, daughter of Mrs. J. C. Randel, of Stamford, to Mr. Jack Wilson, of this city.

The marriage took place in Anson, at 11:00 A. M. Saturday, September 26, at the home of Rev. Ben Hardy, who officiated in the ceremony. This is the culmination of a school days romance. Mrs. Wilson spent most of her life in Hamlin. She is a graduate of the Hamlin High School, but the last few years has lived in Stamford.

Mr. Wilson is a son of Mrs. M. Y. Wilson of this city, a Hamlin boy all his life. He also is a graduate of the local high school, with a year or more as a student of Simmons University. At present he is local manager of the M. T. York Store, No. 1 in Hamlin.

This young couple are at home in the Johnson Apartments near the Methodist Church.

KONGENIAL KARD KLUB

Mrs. J. M. Bullard was hostess to the Kongenial Kard Klub in her home on Central Avenue; Tuesday afternoon when she entertained with three tables of contract.

Hallowe'en decorations were used in the entertaining rooms and featured in game appointments. High score was made by Mrs. Oscar Maples for club and Mrs. Paul Cain for guests.

A salad course with pie and hot chocolate was served to Meses. B. W. Nobles, Oscar Maples, A. R. Elam, M. T. Hudson, Frank Johnson, Roy Garner, Greenhill, Ray Willingham, Otis Hopper, Paul Cain, Coy Fielder and Raymond Jones.

THREE POWERFUL KEYS

THE largest key I ever saw was the one used by the old custodian when he took me through the centuries-old gate of an old Danish castle. Since then, however, I have found three still more powerful keys, which anyone can possess if he wishes.

It is a known fact that as man creates his work, work in turn re-creates man. A modern essayist tells us that: "The working races of the world have been the victorious races; the non-working, the subject races. Wandering peoples have never developed highly political organizations, literature nor art." So there is more than a monetary comeback to work, and does the same for individuals as for nations.

Drive into your life job, do not drift into it. Carry three keys of power with you; they magically open locked doors, the keys of preparation, perseverance and purpose! From the lack of these, we find, in the human family, the idle, the unhappy, the unprepared, the misfits of the world! The same principles of character underlie all successful work of any kind, whether it be in the field of education, the professions or commerce. Success follows law, not luck—the law of preparation, perseverance, and high purpose. These all lie within ourselves, "effort is the price of everything." This is the most vocational experts can advise. You must do the rest.

The president of a large western university once asked a railroad magnate what special preparation he desired young men to have whom he employed. "I use no questionnaire methods," he said. "Give me the lad who has used his preparation to form superior mental habits, habits that ought to result from his university work, who has trained his mind to think straight, quickly, and we'll do the rest, for he will make good in any job we have."

There is a deeper purpose in life than merely earning a living. "Just good enough is not enough." A high purpose includes service, a contribution to the lives of others.

What a challenge to youth today to try the old world for themselves. If we are willing to prepare ourselves for our maximum capability (the first key), and to think what our job can give to others as well as ourselves, (the third key), our work will yield not only a cultural wage to us but a service to the world.

Try these keys of power—Preparation, Perseverance, and Purpose; they open locked doors!

RETURNED FROM SANITARIUM

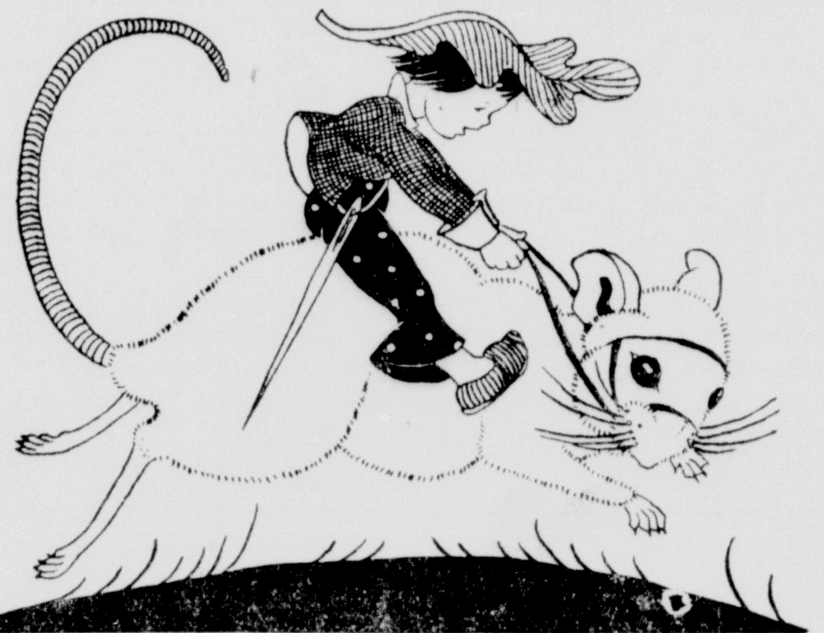

Miss Tressie Brown returned home Saturday after being ill in the German Sanitarium 31 days. She was accompanied by her parents, sisters and brother, Mrs. Ruby Auvenshine and children, and Mr. Stetson Bingham, of Comanche, also returned with her for a short visit here.

During her stay she received over 30 cards and letters from Hamlin and McCaulley. Again she expresses her deep appreciation for this thoughtfulness given her in time of illness. Also a "thank you" to our editor who made it possible for her to read the home paper while there. She is rapidly recovering and we hope she will soon be up, although it will be impossible for her to attend school where she would be a Junior in Hamlin High, this year.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

SCHOOL BEGINS A NEW YEAR

"Fools make mistakes, wise people never do." In last weeks church notes an "H" was hit instead of a "Y" and it made a difference of forty to nothing. The men's Bible class has had an average attendance of about forty (38½ in fact) for three months during the summer. Just a typographical error on my part last week that said nothing but inferred much.

Next Sunday is "Go to Sunday School Day". Reorganization has been effected and new literature is on hand for those not present last Sunday. These promoted will go to their new classes and all newly elected teachers will be in charge. It is the beginning of a new year in the Sunday School world. Don't come alone, bring some friend along with you and you will both feel like the day has meant something.

First Sundays are Communion Sundays and you will want to stay for church on those days. Mrs. Longino will give a report on her Nashville trip at 7:45, since the service was rained out on last Sunday night. Since being out during the rainy days, it is double reason why every one should attend services next Sunday. The newly formed choir will have charge of the song service both morning and evening. If you can sing, and love to, get in the choir until the last seat is taken in the choir loft.

On Wednesday, October 7, at 7:45 Rev. C. A. Long will be in charge to bring a message and hold the fourth Quarterly Conference of the year. This will probably be his last trip to Hamlin before the Conference in Houston on Nov. 4th. Bring your reports in written form as to facts. Added information may be given orally if you like.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Riddle of San Angelo, and Miss Viola Cobb of Hearne, Texas, visited their sister, Mrs. A. G. Arnett and husband this week. Mr. Riddle says they will not be able to re-occupy their flooded home before Saturday or next week. Water rose in their home six feet and four inches.

"Pulling for your friend is a good way to boost." Try it! and bring some one to services with you.

THIS WEEK IN TEXAS HISTORY

BY F. L. McDONALD

WEEK OF SEPT. 27:

1839—On September 29 Godwin Brown Cotton published at San Felipe the first issue of the Texas Gazette.

1835—The battle of Gonzales on October 2 followed an attempt of the Mexican troops to take the colonists cannon. This was the first battle of the revolution.

1835—Santa Anna issued a decree on October 3 that dissolved the constitutional state governments, and provided for an administration by governor and department council directly responsible to the Mexican government.

1836—The first congress of the Texas Republic assembled on October 3 and organized the Senate and House of Representatives.

1839—The capitol was moved on October 1 from Houston to Austin where the permanent seat of government had been established.

CLASS REPORT

DING! DONG!

The bell has rung and another Junior Class has stepped into line with "Lucky Thirteen" members ready for work and play. One boy and twelve girls are ready to establish a junior class record, because no one is lacking in pep and enthusiasm.

Miss Vera Tate, little in size, but loud in action, was chosen sponsor.

Look out, seniors! Remember Miss Tate rooms with your sponsor and may hear Miss Rector talk in her sleep.

The class was organized the second day of school with the following officers and members:

President—Faye Lee,
V. Pres.—Wilma Redus,
Sec.-Treas.—Christina Burnham,
Reporter—Louella Rogers,
Class Poet—Allie Raye Hennington.

Other members, Thelma Dean, Corrine Akins, Betty Joe Abbott, Georgia Frances Lawlis, Geraldine Joye Andress, Geneva Joe Maberry and Evelyn Moss.

The class colors are black and white. The class flower is white phlox.

The junior class is scheduled for many interesting things so keep both ears open for any news flashes or announcement that will be sure to come.

DANES STRUGGLED FOR MANY YEARS TO WIN FARM PURCHASE LAWS

(This is the third of three articles on what is being done by the Resettlement Administration to assist tenant farmers to become land owners.)

Denmark has been quoted many times as an example of a nation that changed its farmers from tenants to landowners, and thereby built itself a remarkable prosperity. Now that the Resettlement Administration is pioneering a movement in the United States by which tenant farmers may be enabled to become owners, it is worthwhile to note that the farmers of Denmark had to struggle for many years to obtain the governmental aid which brought them to their present fortunate condition.

When Denmark's present land policy was initiated by the act of 1899, some sort of change had become imperative, just as it is in the United States today. In Denmark it was so bad that farmers were leaving the country as fast as they grew to manhood and womanhood. The wages which they could earn as tenants or laborers had become so much less than they could earn by going to America that emigration was equal to the entire increase of adult population in the rural districts. To stop this emigration, which was draining Denmark or the best of its rural population, a Country Life Commission was appointed in 1894, whose object, as officially announced was "To devise a plan by which, on favorable terms, parcels of land can be made available for rural workers."

When the act of 1899 was passed, the conservative element in Parliament forced a limitation which would allow purchase of not more than five acres. They feared a labor shortage and desired that the holdings be so small that the holders would still have to obtain work as hired hands in addition to laboring on their own farms. The homesteader was required to make a down payment equal to ten per cent of the value of the land, buildings and livestock. The interest rate was fixed at three per cent and the maximum loan was 3,000 kroner, equal to about $1,000.

Five years later, farmers had gained more power in the Danish parliament and were able to have the loan maximum increased to 5,000 kroner. They gained still more power by 1909, when they succeeded in having the maximum increased to 6,500 kroner. By this time, it was generally agreed that the purpose of the act should be to encourage holdings large enough to become self-sustaining on their own farms. A few years later the maximum loan was again increased, this time to 8,000 kroner—or about $2,500.

The chief objection raised by the conservatives when all this legislation was being enacted was that the government was undertaking too large a financial risk. But this fear proved entirely unfounded. During the twenty-five years after the passage of the act of 1899, the Danish government financed the purchase of 11,541 farms. During that entire period, the total loss to the government from failure of the clients to meet their payments was only $9,085, which amounted to only 35¢ for every $1,000 which the government had advanced.

(Now—re-read all three of these articles and make up your mind as to whether Texas, as a state should attempt something on the same line. Ye editors think, strongly, that we should.)

USE COMMON SENSE IN CHOOSING LIFE PARTNER

A girl who did not care to do much jazzing and drinking and petting at twenty and who has put in half-a-dozen sober years of office work since, finds this sort of company stimulating—for just a few years.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

POPULAR situation in the novels I used to read when I was a little girl was that of the beautiful heroine who was torn between love and duty in selecting a mate. A clever Irishwoman who used the pseudonym of "The Duchess" used to write romances then, and this was her favorite theme. Darling little, romping Molly, the toast of the garrison, the impoverished Squire's daughter, was wooed by the big handsome mustachioed Captain of the Guards, whom she adored and was also sought in marriage by worthy, dull, rich Lawyer Drysdale, or perhaps by the drunken, despicable Earl of Kilowengary himself.

Our mothers, who belonged to the generation that strictly supervised its daughter's reading, were not enthusiastic about the novels of The Duchess. The Duchess always used the present tense, which lent thrill to the young reader but was disapproved on the ground of bad style by my mother; also The Duchess used the word naked when decent Victorians preferred bare.

"Ballister kisses Molly's exquisite naked throat," The Duchess would say. "Her tumbling gold hair loosens itself and blinds him in a river of perfumed silk."

It was forty long crowded years ago when my mother would pick up a copy of "Molly Bawn" or some other favorite and scornfully, patiently read some such phrase to her shamed and giggling daughters, and yet the stories of "The Duchess" have somehow remained fresh in my mind all that time; there must have been some good in them.

And that the old situation is still a new situation where maids and their hearts are involved, a letter lying on my desk this morning proves. A canny Scotch-American girl named Jeanie is in the same fix Molly was in so many years ago; two men want her, and she doesn't know which one to take. Her father and mother, with whom she lives, want her to marry Thomas. But then there's Larry! Jeanie's heart rather yearns toward Larry.

Thomas is the comparatively young president of a rubber company; he is a splendid, reliable, admirable young man; Jeanie's father is one of his employees. Larry is at present a clerk in a Bank, but his heart is far from clerking. He writes poetry, he plays in little amateur plays, he has great plans. Jeanie's people don't like him because he is somewhat intemperate, but Jeanie, who at twenty-seven is two years older than Larry, is confident she could soon cure that.

She writes me fully the advantages and disadvantages of each side. Thomas is forty, and Jeanie feels that may be a little old. On the other hand Larry is young for twenty-five, and has had other girls. Thomas has loved Jeanie since she was in Grammar school.

"I think I WOULD marry Thomas, and have it over, if it wasn't such a SENSIBLE thing to do!" confesses Jeanie. "But with my father anxious for me to do it, and my mother so delighted at the idea, and Thomas so—so darned PERFECT, I just feel like somehow jumping the traces! Tom's first wife was my dearest friend, and his little boy loves me, and THAT'S an inducement, but somehow I feel as if it would be more romantic—more thrilling, to do things against the grain, marry in spite of criticism, take a chance, go crazy for once in my life!"

This girl writes for my advice, and I'm going to give it to her, but perhaps she won't take it. Girls at her age are very apt to go a little "arty," and for a few years the easy hospitality of someone's studio—usually an unsuccessful someone, for successful artists and writers have no time for this sort of pleasant philandering—the gipsy meals and the good talk, the delightful feeling of being Bohemians, and not caring who pays for the red wine, or who is married or not married to who, is all very delightful. A girl who did not care to do much jazzing and drinking and petting at twenty, and who has put in half-a-dozen sober years of office work since, finds this sort of company stimulating—for just a few years.

Then she begins to see that under the smocks and the tousled heads, under the lazy talk of socialism and letters, men are men and women are women just the same. Free love and free divorce and the Bohemian attitude of never cleaning up thoroughly and not caring, are not satisfying very long. To dismiss the possibility of children as both amusing and disgusting is shocking to the woman whose heart and soul are awakening to the miracle and the glory of them; mere physical relationships are not really uplifted by being gilded with the phrases of decadent poets.

In a Bohemian group of which I was a young, awed and pantingly grateful member many years ago there was a nice simple girl of Irish extraction named Brenda. Brenda was extremely sweet and pretty and confiding, and was easily persuaded that marriage vows were a remnant of a convention-bound age. But the day came when she had to tell her lover that she was to go through the greatest experience that ever comes to any woman. He laughed, amused and disgusted, and what he said to her burned into Brenda's honest soul. "Servant girl talk, darling!" he said. "Am I to drive you in the dead of night to the nearest parson?" Presently Brenda appealed to a woman friend who took her to a doctor "absolutely safe." Ten days later Brenda was safe indeed, lying straight and pure and forgiven on a slab at the morgue; the fever and headache and the racking anguish over. Her group didn't pay for her funeral, but they did toast her that night in good red wine, and some of them wept.

There was another beautiful girl in the group, sixteen. Her father was a painter so modern that the world hasn't even yet caught up with him. One of his contemporaries, a jaded, vicious, drinking man with a skin of copper and a whiskey breath, liked Alice, and Alice's dreamy artistic father was not above selling her to Duke, and putting a fat check in the Bank as a result. Alice didn't stand it long; she contracted a hideous disease and took her own way out a few years later, and I lost forever whatever young illusions I had regarding these trumpety Bohemians that flourish in all cities and all groups, and destroy much that is fine and good and promising.

So my advice to Jeanie is to marry Thomas, and thank God that he is as fine as he is, and be a good wife to him and a good mother to little Bruce and to other children. She tells me he loves books and music, and that she does; there are two strong ties, and her mother's pleasure and her father's pleasure will add even more happiness to a happy life. Many a good woman of Jeanie's age would be proud to have one fine man love her, to have the prospect of a home and of his devotion; within a few years Larry's career will be all the justification she needs for turning her back now on what seems the slightly more romantic choice.

Writing poetry and being able to express himself wittily are good things in a man, but with them too often goes the tendency toward drink, and the generally careless attitude toward those obligations and manners and morals that generations of decent men and women have established.

But men and women, generations ago, discovered that nicely-cooked and served meals, clean bodies and clean clothing, beds freshly made, voices controlled, and the relationships between parents and children, husband and wife preserved with dignity and courage all meant civilization. If Jeanie is to take her place and play her part as a useful human being she really has no choice in this matter, especially as her saying that "she can't bear to hurt Tom because he has the most wonderful disposition in the world" indicates that she more than half loves Tom, and would at least feel safe with him. Whatever The Duchess would have advised forty years ago, my advice now is all for Tom, and he and his Jeanie have my best wishes.

SENIORS

The seniors are here again, so stand by.

We haven't done anything of importance so far, as electing a queen and escort and adopting a class motto, but we plan to do that right away.

We haven't had a class meeting this week, but we hope to have one before the week is over.

The most important thing of this week was the senior party.

Mrs. Preston, the class mother, entertained the seniors with a party, last Wednesday night, Sept. 30th.

It was our first party of the year and everyone reported having a nice and delightful time. We arrived rather late, but we got started, and some very interesting games were played. After several games had been played, we were refreshed with chicken salad sandwiches, lemonade and cookies.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the refreshments so much that they wanted to play some more games. (Which they did.)

The courageous seniors that participated are as follows, Ray Humphreys, Inez Howard, T. P. Johnson, Mary Lou Bailey, Leonard Foster, Lovell Stell, Joel Jones, Nellie Mae Scott, Hurschel Fielder, Pat Allen, Tomie Cauble, Bertha Young, Emil Ray Farmer, L. C. Bonds, Lela Weeks, Alvis Bond, J. T. Sipe, Sam Adkins, Eugene Eaton Fleda Elkins, Erma Locke and Lorene Sipe.

We are sorry to report that our sponsor, Miss Thompson, could not be there.

Everyone left for home, about eleven-thirty, tired and sleepy, but happy. They were happy because they had had a good time and also their thoughts were pointing toward the next senior party.

FRESHMAN NEWS

The Freshman Class is going to be the best class in High School this year. We know that we will have lots of fun with Mr. Collier as our sponsor and Mrs. May the class mother.

The officers chosen were:
President ----- James Nicholson
V-President ---- Bob Jack Low, Jr.
Sec.-Treas. ----- Elouise Adkins
Reporter ----- James Tate May
Be on the "lookout" for all the 106 Freshmen this year.

PRESS CLUB

ELECTS OFFICERS

At the second meeting of the Press Club Thursday John F. Green was elected president of the organization. Sam Adkins was elected vice-president and Oleta King, secretary. The president appointed Mary Lou Bailey, Eva Louise Fowler, Inez Howard and Roy Wilson to serve on a committee with the club officers for the purpose of nominating the staff members for the school newspaper.

The "Hamlin Hi News" is scheduled to be published twice a month and each publication will carry all school news which is possible to publish. Reporters are working at all times in order to cover the most important meetings and events which occur that will be news to the school. New columns such as Dorothy Dicks for the help of lovesickness have been written and for the future publications the staff hopes to have a comic strip.

Each member of the Press Club is working to make this paper a success. We are counting on the help of the school and of the business men of Hamlin to buy the paper for the more we sell the better the paper will be.

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUI, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardui, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

Many people broadcast loudest on the wrong wave length.
